

LOIS LUMBRA REPORTING FROM MONTGOMERY, JANUARY 31, 2021

I thought I would change the name of my column as I do not have much news, but will include it if something changes. I like the idea of getting messages from local people but they want to remain Anonymous and that is okay. This is the last Sunday of January and it is going out like a lamb it is just so beautiful with the blue skies and gorgeous sunshine. Penny stopped by for a few minutes but was on her way to take Bella out to play in the snow and get some fresh air. I will go out after I get this written.

Now this could happen to anyone of us, and this couple had saved up for a nice vacation for the Bahamas; finally the day had arrived to get ready. They packed their suitcases that night before going to bed and put them beside the front door. Upon getting up the next morning, they decided not to eat breakfast at home and no coffee, just get to the airport. The suitcases had been picked up and taken outside; they were in the car about 5 miles from home, when the wife asked..Did you put the suitcases in the car? Husband Said NO, I thought you did. They realized it was garbage day so they quickly turned around fast and raced back home. As they headed down their street, they noticed their suitcases next to the garbage cans and the garbage truck was two houses away before reaching theirs. Thankfully it all worked out okay, they reached their destination in the Bahama's and they wore their bathing suits on the beach, Not Hefty Bags!!!

Our daughter Veronica DSP keeps busy doing several different projects, besides taking care of her home and preparing meals and shopping. She loves her tatting and making beautiful jewelry, holiday greeting cards, paints on canvas, loves to snowshoe, takes their two dogs for walks and to play in the snow, shovels the snow, and when she wants some quiet time to relax, she likes to read, and be in bed by 7:30 p.m.

Just a little story in regards to Hunter our cat, Friday night I had trouble sleeping, do you ever have those nights, it felt like I had a full moon affect on me, then the next morning, I realized it could have been that. It was 12:30 a.m. and Hunter was down stairs playing with a Christmas ball/bell and he was having a great time batting it around. Once he got tired he came up stairs and settled down to sleep with us. He is so inquisitive and wants to know what is going on, he has the best seat in the house on top of the sewing machine where he can see out the big window and watch the birds.

Happy Birthday to: Harper Bredin 2/7; Maggie Elkins 2/8; Patrick Cote 2/9; Jolene O'Connell, Thomas St.Onge 2/10; Robbin Levine 2/11; Terry Zartarian 2/12; Anna Smith 2/13.

**There are places that stores are checking your temperature before entering a supermarket, it's a government plot to erase your memory, I went in the store to purchase a quart of milk and a loaf of bread and came out with a case of beer and 12 bottles of wine.** I want to grow my own food but cannot find bacon seeds anywhere.** (jokes were quoted) Stay well, safe and most of all to LOVE one another. God Bless Us All..
