

LOIS WITH THE MONTGOMERY NEWS, 10/11/2026

10/5..It's a busy Monday around here, a big wash day to begin with, and its raining and breezy. Penny has left with the bus, and off for the day. Veronica has called and she has received word from her Dr in regards to her test she had done this last week. Her ankle has been giving her a problem for sometime now, bone on bone..what can be done will know more about that after seeing a specialist. Monday afternoon the weather did not warm up much, Mt. Mansfield had a dusting of snow, reported the scene on WCAX TV that evening. I guess Jay Peak might have had a dusting also, as it could be seen by different people. Tuesday, Maggie made an appointment with me to get her hair trimmed, and she came over for me to do that. Nothing new we have done this for years, I cut hers and if Veronica does not get to mine, Maggie cuts mine.

Tuesday, I had a call from Cathie Carpenter Paradee, she had a large bag of pieces of a knitted Afghan that had been given to her Mother Pat and Pat does not remember who it was. Cathie reads my News and therefore she knows I go to the QUILTING CIRCLE, she wondered if they might want it. Wednesday, when it was Bowling day, Sue Peters came to pick me up, I mentioned to her what I had, and do you think we might have someone interested. We stopped to pick up Carol Farmer in the Center, and I mentioned to her about the knitter Afghan I had given to me. She immediately knew someone that would be interested...Susan McGinley does a Knitting class at the Center , "Center for Arts". When I got home in the afternoon, all I could think about was calling Susan, she called me later and said I will be down 10 a.m. Thursday and she was. Once she see this material that was worked on, she seemed to know right away the design and was so excited to take it to work on. I called Cathie to let her know that I had found someone to take it and hopefully wants to complete it someday.. We will let the Carpenters know.

Wednesday, was a fun day as usual at the Bowling Alley, we had six players at the game sight today. The Turkeys and Eagle Views. There were a couple sub players today, and as always they are friendly and very nice players. Welcome to the Bowling Family.. We are now into Thursday. Therese Begnoche starts from the Center picking up Connie McFarland , on to the Village to pick Sue Peters and Me up..and away we go to the Fall Senior Dinner by Lise Gates at the Dairy Center, to have a delicious dinner of, salad, rolls, boiled onions, carrots, scalloped potatoes, ham snd apple crisp for dessert. I enjoyed having a couple of my nieces come and join us each month, and several from Montgomery join us. There were several gifts brought in for the Tea Cup Sales that always come in, people enjoy the sales. Vivian Deuso Elbe joined us for the first time, also at the Montgomery Senior Dinner by Chef Joey Buttendorf.

I did not attend the Montgomery Variety Show this past weekend, but sure it was fun. I know when we had the shows years ago they were fun and always had a full house.

10/11...It's Sunday, and 36 degrees outside, a bit warmer this morning as it was only 28 Saturday morning and was not sure if the Farmer's Market was going to set up. But Mr Sunshine came out to warm it up down there..so the Sales went on..even the cold wind was tolerated. John Gorton was here this morning with the Church Worship Service prepared and ready to go, entitled his sermon "Spread The Spirit." John had the info in regards to our Conference Meeting at St. Paul's United Methodist Church next Saturday October 17 at 2 p.m. During this week my GrandNiece Brittany Hammond was taken ill, she had trouble breathing and went to the Hospital there in Burlington, and she had to take the Dr. on call as her regular Dr was not available. A port was put in her chest to help her breathe better, she did not like this port and medication at all. When her regular Dr came he had the port removed, Brittany was pleased to have it removed, she will have pills to take, which she prefers. She is now home and doing well. I had written to each of my Church Family for Prayers for Brittany, and I want to Thank Everyone for their Prayers...Thank You!!!

Happy Birthday to: Sadie Smith 10/19; David Newton 10/20; Charlie Fichman 10/21; Marijke Dollois 10/23; John Cluba we are thinking of You up in Heaven Happy Birthday!!10/24.

Off To Work Jokes. 1. As if getting up in the morning isn't bad enough, it has to be followed by going to work. 2. Getting up and going to work in the morning...what a waste of 8 good hours of sleep. 3. I don't like to drink too much coffee in the morning. If I do, I toss and turn all through the work day....This is the second time I have done the News, the first time I was typing the last lines, and it went off the screen, not to be found. Penny tried for me also. I had wondered about bear hunting if there had been many taken during the hunt...My Nephew heard a bear weighing over 400 lbs was taken in the Southern part of Vermont. I might google it later to see if it has been reported. Bye For now Folks. Love To All.
