

LOIS WITH THE MONTGOMERY NEWS, NOVEMBER 5, 2023

We have had a nice Sunday, a dark cool beginning but has cleared a little later in the morning and been a wonderful day to be outside. Penny and her son David take their dog Bella out for a nice walk, run and play. I attended Church, Rev. Bob Purvee was our Pastor for the day, as he comes up from Burlington the first Sunday of each month, prepares the whole service, his message was entitled "Leadership: Burden or Blessing?", he asked Vivian Elbe to read the Bible Scripture, special Anthem by our organist Patrick Evans, and Lois helped serve communion. Our District Superintendent came just before the service was completed as she had a meeting planned to have the Annual Reports ready for her to take note for the 2023 year. Lois had ordered a breakfast platter of fruits and snacks for everyone in attendance to enjoy.

10/31..Our Halloween evening was filled with many many children coming for candy. It was so cold out but no one seemed to mind, i was dressed warm but not warm enough, Penny took over for me and enjoyed being out with the children. I enjoyed seeing the many costumes, the little dinosaur was so cute and a fellow wearing the fog mask i liked very much. It's great the parents go out with the children all dressed Up. Then the next morning the first of Nov. was our coldest with snow showers in the afternoon making all things so white, but did not last long as we got our green back.

This past week I received an email and picture from Veronica, she had received a picture of her grandson Jayden Royer he was having lesson driving an air plane. Jayden is serving in the Air Force stationed in England. Gramma Veronica and Mom Samantha are leaving this month to visit him, he has plans on taking them on a tour. They are so excited.

My wild side is a bit short but a nice size deer jumped in the path of the school bus Friday morning and thankfully the brakes were working well and the deer lives on..

Happy Birthday to: Sue Wilson 11/12; Patrik Evans, Charlotte Mercy 11/13; Roger Chauvin, Madison St. Onge 11/15 .

Anniversary Wishes to Billy & Denise Baker 11/13.

 I think the proper name for senior women should be: QUEEN-AGERS. A couple got dressed to go out for a dinner date, she asks her husband does this dress make me look fat? Does this shirt make me look stupid he replies.. This is all folks enjoy. God Bless us all.. M.L.T.A.
