

LOIS WITH THE MONTGOMERY NEWS, FEBRUARY 10, 2019

WOW!!! Another week with icy conditions, and frigid temps headed our way. 2/10.. Today after our Church morning worship, we held our Annual Year Reports meeting, and then a morning Brunch Pot-Luck was held in the Fellowship Hall. We make booklets each year with all our reports, and thanks to Linda Carpenter she does a beautiful front and back cover for us, this year our front cover was a picture of our Christmas decorations.

2/6..The February Senior Luncheon hosted by Judith Derencourt and volunteers Alissa Hardy and daughter Chloe and Abby Dixon-Boles, was held at the Conference Room at the Safety Building on Route 242. There were 17 senior citizens present and all enjoyed their meal provided by Jay Peak. Judith surprised Chloe with a birthday cake and everyone sang Happy Birthday to her, she received cards and gifts. Thanks to all that volunteer their time and thanks to all the new people that came to enjoy the meal and fellowship.

2/6.. Maggie Elkins was taken out a few days early to celebrate her Birthday with her High School Friends Pamela Colburn and Maryann Mercy. The ladies went to the new Enosburg Diner on Main Street that recently opened for business. They had a wonderful time chatting and wishing Maggie a Happy Birthday. Maggie went over to her sister Susie Ewins Friday to lend a helping hand. Once back home she had several phone calls wishing her a Happy Birthday and she said it was getting late when the last call came in. She is a Special Lady!

This is another story about wild animals making their way into our lives. My friends wishes to remain anonymous as well. She has deer coming onto her property, during the Fall months they enjoyed coming to eat fallen apples on her property. During the cold month they nibble at her plants on her lawn, they come up on her porch to eat bird seeds that fall from her feeders. They are so beautiful and so much fun to watch as they romp around and play. It has been a tough year for the deer, the snow came early and has remained deep in the woods, making it hard for them to get around. We also had a deer coming in our back yard to eat fallen apples and also to eat off the compost pile of peelings that I discard. But nothing for awhile as there are no tracks coming through the snow.

Happy Birthday Day to: Raylynn Marie Wells 2/20; Kalisha Brooks, Jake Webster, Barbara Burns 2/22.

Anniversary Wishes to Richard and Prudy Ryea 2/20.

A. (LL)  A young wife wakes up from an afternoon nap, and says to her husband, "I had a dream you gave me a diamond necklace for Valentines Day." Her husband later went out and purchase her a gift, had it all wrapped up, in pretty red paper and ribbons, took it home and gave it to her, wished her a Happy Valentine's Day. She was so excited, opened it and it was a book entitled, THE MEANING OF DREAMS. Have a good week everyone and Happy Valentines Day!!
