

LOIS WITH THE MONTGOMERY NEWS, MAY 2, 2021

Here I go with some news from Town..starting to come back slowly and that is appreciated. Thanks You!! The M.Quilting Circle met at the home of Sue Peters, 4/29, for the first time in a long time. They audited their finances and found them solvent, had lunch, talked about the agenda and had a wonderful "ShowNTell. The attendance was merger but the decisions were robust. Those that did attend had a mighty power of the vote. Seven Sunshine Quilts were turned in as well as three for the ' Arts For The Park' raffle this Fall.

Tuesday afternoon Maggie Elkins, Susie Ewins, Ben Larivee and Lorraine Mercy ventured to the Enosburg Golf Course for the first time, which was a fun time and they had to keep busy as it was so windy and that was a cold wind.. It has been a weird week but we did get much needed rain. Today, the first day of May, while at the post office, Charlie Carpenter drove in coming down from Hill West with a fair amount of snow on his truck. Friday evening we saw the State Highway truck come in to town with their snowplow on again, ready to keep route 242 open over Jay Peak NO, its not uncommon to have snow in May, not here in Vermont, we, the older generation are witnesses to that.

While talking with Maggie about playing golf, she asked what was going on with the Fire Department Tuesday evening as they were just going out to a fire on West Hill, as she was coming back home. I have since found out it was a garage owned by the Demato Family. There was a big concern about their home, as the garage was near by. The Enosburg Fire Department was called also for back-up. Thanks to all that came to help out. No one lost their home..Thankfully!!!

I talked with Reginald Lumbr and during our chat he told me how much he enjoyed this column and liked the jokes. He shared his bear story that he recently witnessed on West Hill, a big bear was in the road near where Ken Cota used to live. Later Nikki Gendron told me that there had been a bear near their property and she lives near her father Paul Sylvester, but the coyotes have been a noisy bunch of animals around her home this Spring. Thanks for sharing..I greatly appreciate these stories.

Wednesday, Ruth D.Smith and hubby Jim and her brother Dexter Domina came to visit their Mother Gila and while they were here Gila took a fall and had several bruises on her face and injured her shoulder, Ruth and Jim drove her down to the hospital in St.Albans to get checked out, luckily no broken bones. Gila has been very uncomfortable but determined to do things on her own.

Happy Birthday..Belated to Morgan Powell 4/28 and Kylan Gendron 5/2; Frank Lumbr, Anna Beth McGovern 5/10; Rosemary McGowan, Mary Ann Lyons, Laurel Tryhorne 5/11; Robin Pelkey, Isaac Lumbr 5/13; Aaron Auclair 5/14; Hayley Williams. Gary McAllister 5/15.

Happy Anniversary to Randy and Priscilla Hammond 5/12.
