

LOIS WITH THE MONTGOMERY NEWS, 9/24/2023

Our Sunday is another beautiful afternoon. John Gorton was here to do our Church Service, and sang a couple of new hymns that were not familiar to all of us; his sermon was entitled "God Provides." Next week Rev. Bob Purvee will be with us to do the Service and Communion. Please come and share this day with us.

It has been an amazing week of nice weather, and I have been outside more enjoying the sunshine, getting some natural vitamin D, and enjoyed the visits from my neighbors as they stopped by to say Hi. Saturday, Veronica called and wanted Penny and me to come over and have lunch at the Cajun in Lowell, as this was their last weekend open, and we decided to go, we had a delicious lunch and enough left overs for my Sunday lunch.

The Quilting Circle met at the home of Sue Peter's on Friday, September 22, their date was changed to accommodate the volunteers that work at schools. They welcomed two new potential members to the quilting world. Their lunch time seemed to last longer as they all needed to catch up on what each other were doing. A short meeting followed before starting our projects. It was decided that a Yoga Gift Box would be assembled for the Montgomery Elementary School Christmas Sale held on 12/10/23, it would be raffled off during this sale. The group continued to check out the Bangello Quilt top and worked on the Pansy top. The major work was constructing a Log Cabin Quilt block out of various 2 " strips that each member contributed. The Program Chairperson SueP is keeping everyone in stitches.

I have a wild animal story that Barbara Burns shared with me. She and her Friend Patty Barnes were sitting at her dining room table and Patty was facing the road, a car was slowed down and beeping his horn, Barbara went to see what was going on a big bull moose was in the road and when Barbara looked out the window the moose was coming right down her driveway. She went out the back door to try and get a picture of it and when she opened the door to see where it was it was right in full view of her and she screamed scaring the moose to run, and it jumped down their 10 foot rock wall, she went to investigate, thinking it might have broken a leg, but it seemed ok, and ran off down the field. It sure was lots of excitement for these two gals for awhile. Thanks for sharing this story with me Barbara!!
