

LOIS WITH THE MONTGOMERY NEWS, JULY 21, 2019

7/21..What a gorgeous afternoon, the humidity has almost vanished , at least it feels more comfortable, there has been a nice breeze since having lunch. Been eating just cool things the last few days, tried not to do any cooking and especially baking. I took orders for strawberries for people around town and had 64 quarts delivered here Friday, and we had fresh strawberries on ice cream..NO shortcake. This week there might be raspberries and my sister-in-law Roberta Martin said blueberries will soon be ready to pick. I love all berries.

Sandy Bowman has enjoyed the company of her children this week and grandchildren, Johua Potvin and his son Declan were up for the week from Florida, and Jill Schoff and son Rowan from Maine. A wonderful time was enjoyed. 7/21, Sandy, Joshua and son stopped by so I could meet Declan. He was rather shy at first but soon was smiling and making sounds of different animals, and singing Old McDonald with his Grandmother Sandy. It was very nice of Joshua to stop by so I could meet his son, As I used to baby-sit him when he was little, plus Joshua remembers things better than me. (Memories)

Maggie Elkins, her sisters Grace Jones, Susie Ewins and Joanne Kane came together just a swinging for some golfing time at Enosburg Country club on 7/15. They always have a great time together!

7/19..Eleven members of the Green Mountain Ruby Reds came together at "Papa Place" to eat in Eden. As always the ladies had a wonderful time, delicious food and did some planning for their next outing.

7/20.. The Farmer's Market was called off as the weather prediction of being so humid and hot for everyone to be outside. I was out rather early as I am usually, I was greeted with a couple local pets that are also out early. You know what I missed..THE BIRDS, was it to hot for them to be out singing and chirping.. I am always amazed at all the sounds they make, always so happy, and I think why can't we all be like that. Even today, they are quiet. Now and then you hear a chirp but not often. Today, around noon time, there were 26 motor-bikes coming into town, not loud ones, they parked across the street from us and just one person came over to park under our maple tree in the shade and I scooted out to see where they were from, she said Quebec and were headed for Newport. It was just a short Hello and they were off. I thought at first when I see them coming they were going on the park to enjoy a stop in our town, as the Village Park is used most every day by bikers or someone traveling through.
