

LOIS WITH THE MONTGOMERY NEWS, SEPTEMBER 12, 2021

What a glorious sunny, breezy and comfortable Sunday Afternoon. Penny came by and had dinner with us and then sat and chatted before going back home. Saturday, during the Farmer's Market while Veronica was over with her beautiful jewelry and hand painted cards we three had a nice time gathered under the little tent and visited with people that came to the Farmer's Market.

Once the Farmer's Market was over Veronica came up to sit down and have her picnic before we went back down to the Historical Society for the special event taking place at 1:30 p.m. We were a little late though!!

The Historical Society held an "Unveiling Ceremony" for the new Roadside Historic Markers this past Saturday 9/11 after the final Farmer's Market of the season. Members Sue Wilson and Jackie Quinn and Selectman Mark Brouillette removed the covering from the sign at Union Hall (Pratt Hall) in front of a group of nearly 30 in attendance before moving inside to celebrate with fresh cider and cookies. There are nearly 300 of these markers throughout Vermont with the first erected in the late 1940's. Thanks to all that worked to get these Historic Markers for our town. I have already witnessed people stopping to read them and take pictures.

Friday just a little after our noon time, we witnessed all these little convertible cars pulling up and parking down the street opposite of us. People were getting out of their little cars and walking to one car in particular. I went out to see what was going on, where they were coming from, etc. It seems that they were venturing out for the afternoon from Stowe as they were here for the Great British Motorcar Invasion Event. Every year this membership group with British Motorcars come together in Stowe, last year because of the pandemic it was cancelled and this year it was a go; only they were concerned that Canada would not be able to come down because the borders were still closed. The group that met out across the street from us, one person had a problem of a lost oil cap. The people were from Massachusetts and they all seemed to know one another and all trying to help the one friend with a lost oil cap, anyhow they rigged up something and were soon off to Enosburg, going down to Jeffersonville and going over Mt. Mansfield for a scenic ride. OOPs, I forgot to mention they had come here to check out our Covered Bridges, they were getting a little hungry and wanted soup, I recommended Jolley's for a sandwich but maybe they could find soup in Enosburg. (???) Anyhow they were a nice group of people and enjoyed someone coming out to talk with them, Of Course my specialty, love having people come to town as it is so beautiful here and am mighty proud of it.

#1 Did the weatherman take a leave of absence after breaking both his arms and both legs? He would have trouble working with the four casts.#2. A young man walks into a record store and asks the clerk, Do you have any by the Doors? Sure replies the clerk, "a mop bucket and a fire extinguisher." Starting next month I would like to hear from my reading audience their fun time at Halloween, or something spooky that might have happened during October. Let's get some good stories..Send to my email lois41@fairpoint.net or to Lois Lumbra, P.O. Box 74, Montgomery, Vt. 05470 Thanks..M.L.T.A.
