

LOIS WITH THE MONTGOMERY NEWS, JUNE 5, 2022

I have some time before I start supper and it is so beautiful here with the front doors open and that nice cool breeze coming in. I often start my column early and keep it in, save as. 6/5..Here I am back to finish up this column. Merle Van Gieson planned and did the Sunday Worship and Communion today. He has announced that our District Superintendent has found a retired Pastor that will come starting in August to come and do our service and communion. We are looking forward to that. Our daughters came by this afternoon for a visit and Veronica wanted to go and get summer pictures of the Covered Bridges, so we did that, and Penny came up and we enjoyed our cool visit..just one of those days that you feel the chill in the air.

6/2.. My neighbor next door Jimbo has rented out his house to a Family that have come together from many different states to have a "Cousins Reunion," they come from Texas, Florida, Connecticut, Arkansas, and Vermont. I hear them talking at times saying how beautiful it is up this way. Mr. MacClure told me he lives down the street from that terrible tragedy at the Elementary School there in Uvalde.

6/4..Shortly after dinner as I was about to do my dishes, I heard this thunderous noise and really thought we were going to get a thunder storm. There were about 30 motorcycles coming into town, and were traveling up through the Fuller Covered Bridge into Richford. I think they might have been up this way to be in the Enosburg Dairy Festival Parade. Sure has been a nice day for their festivities. A nice day for almost any outdoor activity. The wind has been sort of gusty at times this afternoon and that has been bringing down the maple tree seeds and our road is covered in them, they looked like a storm at one time coming down and whirling around, they were spinning around like helicopter wings.

Lorraine St.Onge is announcing the arrival of her Great Grandson Weston St.Onge, to proud new parents Scott and Kristin St.Onge, and Grand Parents Steve and Lisa St.Onge. Congratulations to everyone and it's nice to hear that everyone is doing well..

Happy Birthday to: Carmen Scott, Susan Paradis, 6/12; Lisa Patterson 6/13; Ivy Betts 6/14; John Mercy, Ada Libby 6/16; Trevor Lumbra 6/17; Connie Sheltra 6/18. If you were used to seeing your Birthday listed, I can only do Birthdays from this town. Just enjoy your Special Day..

**A teacher asks her student where the English Channel is located; I'm not sure the student answers, We switched cable channels last month.** This is all for this week.. Congratulations to all the Graduates here in the Elementary School and Local High Schools. Have a great summer. M.L.T.A.
